Carolyn Maniukiewicz, who has delivered motivational sessions to businesses throughout Scotland and even to English Football Clubs! - will run a workshop which will focus on personal development, team building, confidence building and motivation.

Anyone who has heard Carolyn speak will know that these sessions are interactive and above all fun.

The Be All you Can Be event affords delegates a fantastic networking opportunity. The event will include psychometric testing to help delegates understand what makes them and others “tick” and how they can improve the way they relate to colleagues, friends and family.

Innovative tools and activities will enhance motivation and confidence-building.

So, why not make this an office, family or a business outing and go away rejuvenated and inspired, but most importantly motivated and raring to go.
